Peace, Work With Arabs Is Major Aim—B-G

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — One of Israel's principal aims is a peace treaty and cooperation with our neighbors to our mutual benefit. The Prime Minister declared on Sunday evening at the opening of the Third Convention of the Progressive Party at the Haifa Hall.

Mr. Ben-Gurion said he did not share the oft-expressed fear that the cold war, or even a third world war, would break out in his view, Communism theory and practice made this unlikely.

The Prime Minister said that one of the deeper implications of the cold war was the struggle for the hearts of the awakening peoples of Asia and Africa.

The other continents had not been independent until factors before World War II. It was only since then that the "real" world revolution had taken place—a revolution perhaps greater than those of the first half of this century, he continued.

Attempt to Scare

The big powers are expending their tremendous military and economic strength to frighten these countries. Nevertheless, they are neither able nor willing to accept the wild and unrestrained capitalism of the U.S. on the one hand and the Communist regime on the other.

At the same time, Mr. Ben-Gurion continued, they are conscious that Israel, which like themselves has recently gained its independence, has already succeeded in creating new social forms of which no equal is known.

Nevertheless, President de Gaulle, M. Debre and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville can be counted on to put the solidarity of the Atlantic alliance first, and not to allow bilateral resentments arising from the Suez intervention to influence France's policy.

Speaking more directly to the convention delegates, Mr. Ben-Gurion declared that the Progressive Party had inherited one of the finest traditions in Zionism, and had been a faithful partner of the pioneering movement in this country. He recalled the achievements of the party in establishing its own kibbutzim and other agricultural settlements.

The Ministers of Justice, Police and the Interior, members of the Diplomatic Corps, Knesset Members as well as over 500 delegates crowded the festive auditorium.

Wants More Respect

The Chairman of the Convention, Mr. Moshe Kats, declared that unless "the ruling party" changed its attitude towards its Coalition partners and developed more respect for their independence and freedom of expression it was likely to lose them.

Mr. Pinhas Rosen, Minister of Justice, said that the party's overall economic policy would continue to aim at the achievement of economic independence within a general framework of liberalization, encouragement of foreign investment, and tax reform.

Greetings were received from the President, Chief Rabbi I. H. Herzog and settlers throughout the country, while Mayor Haim Levanon greeted the Convention on behalf of the city of Tel Aviv.

The Convention will continue today at Beit Lessin.

Temporary Easing Of Rent Controls Urged

The Minister of Labour, Mr. Namir, on Sunday proposed the temporary suspension of the provisions of the Tenants Protection Law with regard to new buildings in order to encourage private investment in flats for rental.

The proposal was made at a meeting of the Ministerial Economic Committee in Jerusalem.

He also suggested that a study be made of the provisions of the Tenants Protection Law with regard to existing buildings. Suspension of these provisions would enable landlords to raise rents and would make private investment in housing more attractive.

Mr. Namir proposed the acceptance of the recommendations of the Lehmann Report, providing for easier credit terms to local and foreign investors in popular housing schemes.

Another proposal brought by the Labour Minister was the establishment of a public advisory council on building in which all sectors of the economy would be represented.

Macmillan to Confer With French Today

PARIS (Reuter). — The British Prime Minister, Mr. Harold Macmillan, is expected to be welcomed in Paris with an open mind, if not with open arms, when he arrives Monday (today) to report on his Russian reconnaissance.

He must be prepared to find more interest than cordiality in his two-day exchange of views with the French Prime Minister declared on Sunday evening at the opening of the Third Convention of the Progressive Party at the Haifa Hall.

Mr. Ben-Gurion said he did not share the oft-expressed fear that the cold war, whatever its form, evaluation may be, as having tended to weaken allied solidarity.

The Prime Minister said that one of the deeper implications of the cold war was the struggle for the hearts of the awakening peoples of Asia and Africa.

The other continents had not been independent until factors before World War II. It was only since then that the "real" world revolution had taken place—a revolution perhaps greater than those of the first half of this century, he continued.

There is a persistent belief in French official circles that Britain is behind a movement within Nato — supported by General Laurent Norstad, Supreme Commander—which is criticizing France for having diverted too many of her Nato troops to North Africa.

These reported criticisms also extend to France's failure to agree to set up intermediate-range ballistic missile bases as requested by the Nato command.

Squeezed Out

Judging by views expressed among British officials here, France is also regarded by Britain as having squeezed Britain out of the picture with regard to the European Common Market and as being responsible for the failure to reach a working agreement between Britain and the Market.

On neither side does the "entente" appear to be very "cordial."

Nevertheless, President de Gaulle, M. Debré and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville can be counted on to put the solidarity of the Atlantic alliance first, and not to allow bilateral resentments arising from the Suez intervention to influence France's policy.

Speaking more directly to the convention delegates, Mr. Ben-Gurion declared that the Progressive Party had inherited one of the finest traditions in Zionism, and had been a faithful partner of the pioneering movement in this country. Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Minister of Labour, Mr. Mordechai Namir, declared at the Cabinet meeting on Sunday that he was categorically opposed to any lowering of building standards in the large-scale programme for immigrant housing.

He also emphasized that this programme should not be carried out at the expense of existing projects for liquidating the moratorium.

It is understood that the Minister of Finance, Mr. L. Eshkol, was in favour of both lowering building standards for immigrant housing, in order to complete the programme, and of giving this project priority over plans for liquidating the moratorium.

Mr. Namir was reporting to the Cabinet on the activities of his Ministry over the past three years, with special reference to employment, housing and vocational training. He also outlined his Ministry's programmes for the 1958-60 fiscal year.

His programme contained a survey of the recent immigration from Poland and of the special problems posed by the absorption of immigrants.

Cypriot Bishop Renews Demand For 'Enosis'

NICOSIA (Reuter). — Bishop Kyriacos of Cyprus returned here on Sunday from Athens after a two-year exile and told a cheering crowd, "Long Live Enosis."

The bishop, a staunch advocate of Enosis (Union with Greece), spoke to a crowd estimated at 25,000.

The bishop, banished from Cyprus with Archbishop Makarios in March, 1958, has remained in reserve over the London agreement making the island independent within a year. He said in a fare-well statement to the Greek people Saturday night, "No one in the world has the power to force the Cypriots to forget or deny that their motherland is Greece. The struggle for Enosis will continue."

French Fire Test Rocket in Sahara

COLOMB BECHAR, Algeria (Reuter). — The first of a series of rockets with which France is conducting experiments in the upper atmosphere was launched on Saturday from the Sahara desert missile testing range south of here.

A satellite communiqué issued on Saturday night said a Veronique rocket was sent up in a preparatory launching. It gave no other details. It was believed this first test was to try out radio control techniques.

The Paris newspaper "France Dimanche" has reported that the above 2,000 pounds are at work deep in the Sahara desert near Reggan, building blockhouses and underground shelters in preparation for France's first nuclear tests.

Don't Throw Away Your Ration Books—Sapir

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Minister of Commerce and Industry, Mr. P. Sapir, on Sunday warned Israelis not to throw away their ration books as "they might be needing them again."

Speaking in a press interview broadcast over Kol Yisrael, Mr. Sapir said that an inter-Ministerial committee was now studying steps to enforce the keeping of ration books.

On the question of wages, Mr. Sapir advised employers "not to invite trouble" and to comply with salary demands laid down by the Histadrut — and raise wages of industrial workers by about 2.5 per cent.

On the other hand, employers were asked not to raise wages above the level fixed by the Histadrut.

The Minister said that with the abolition of rice-rationing in February, the consumption of rice rose by 350 per cent. Prices fell from IL 1.450 per kg. on the free market to 600 pruta per kg.

Mr. Sapir said that sugar consumption had also risen considerably with the end of sugar rationing and the lowering of free market prices.

Duties Discussed

A deputation from the Manufacturers Association met with Mr. Sapir in his office on Sunday morning, to discuss new duties on various raw materials used in industry were discussed.

Following the meeting, some discussions were held between representatives of the Association and senior officials of the Finance and Commerce and Industry Ministries.

"Some definite progress was recorded," the spokesman said.

Consultations will continue on Monday in Tel Aviv, it was stated.

In a talk given in Tel Aviv under the auspices of the Federation Women's Council (Moetzet Hapoalot) on Sunday night, Mr. Sapir said that the decision to abolish rationing was taken at a recent Cabinet meeting, it is learned.

The proposals were brought up when Mr. Sapir met with Histadrut leaders in Tel Aviv last week.

The Minister Economic Committee decided on Sunday to raise the price of fertilizers by between IL 3 and 4 per ton. The Minister of Transport, Mr. Moshe Carmel, intends, however, raising the matter again in a full Cabinet meeting, it is learned.

Summarising the impact of rationing on the "food basket," the Minister pointed out that egg and vegetable agreements with the farmers had benefited producers as well as consumers by ironing out price and supply fluctuations.

It had also increased the supply of certain commodities, such as rice and oil, which had hitherto been rationed and whose free market price had been beyond the means of some 50 per cent of the population.

Another delegate said British investors would be more interested in coordinated investment rather than private investment.

Mr. Abe Harman of the Jewish Agency Executive, surveyed Western immigration to this country and investment possibilities.

At a reception given at his home in Jerusalem last night for the mission, Dr. Yoel Joseph, Jewish Agency Treasurer, outlined the financial problems in absorbing the present immigration.

The Prasidium decided there were no more tickets available to the jubilee celebration which is scheduled to take place on Wednesday night at the Mann Auditorium.

All requests for tickets, the spokesman said, would have to be refused. Because it was impossible to fulfil the demand, each of the institutions, numbering in the hundreds, had been accorded only two tickets.

Mr. Beck-Friis, former U.N. Ambassador, who served as a member of the U.N. mission on Cambodia-Thailand border disputes, arrived in Jerusalem on Tuesday at the request of the UNTSO Chief of Staff, Gen. von Horn. He stopped over on his way back to Sweden.
